

YouTube Trending Videos: Market Analysis

Audience Behavior and
Ad Placement Strategy

Prepared by Video Ads Analyst, Sterling & Draper

Report YouTube trending behaviors across regions and identify top ad placement opportunities.

Global engagement is dominated by Entertainment, but nuanced regional behaviors dictate targeted ad strategies.

Global Leader

Entertainment commands the highest trending video volume worldwide, creating a universal baseline.

Behavioral Split

US audiences favor lifestyle and music, while global audiences index highly on news and personal vlogs.

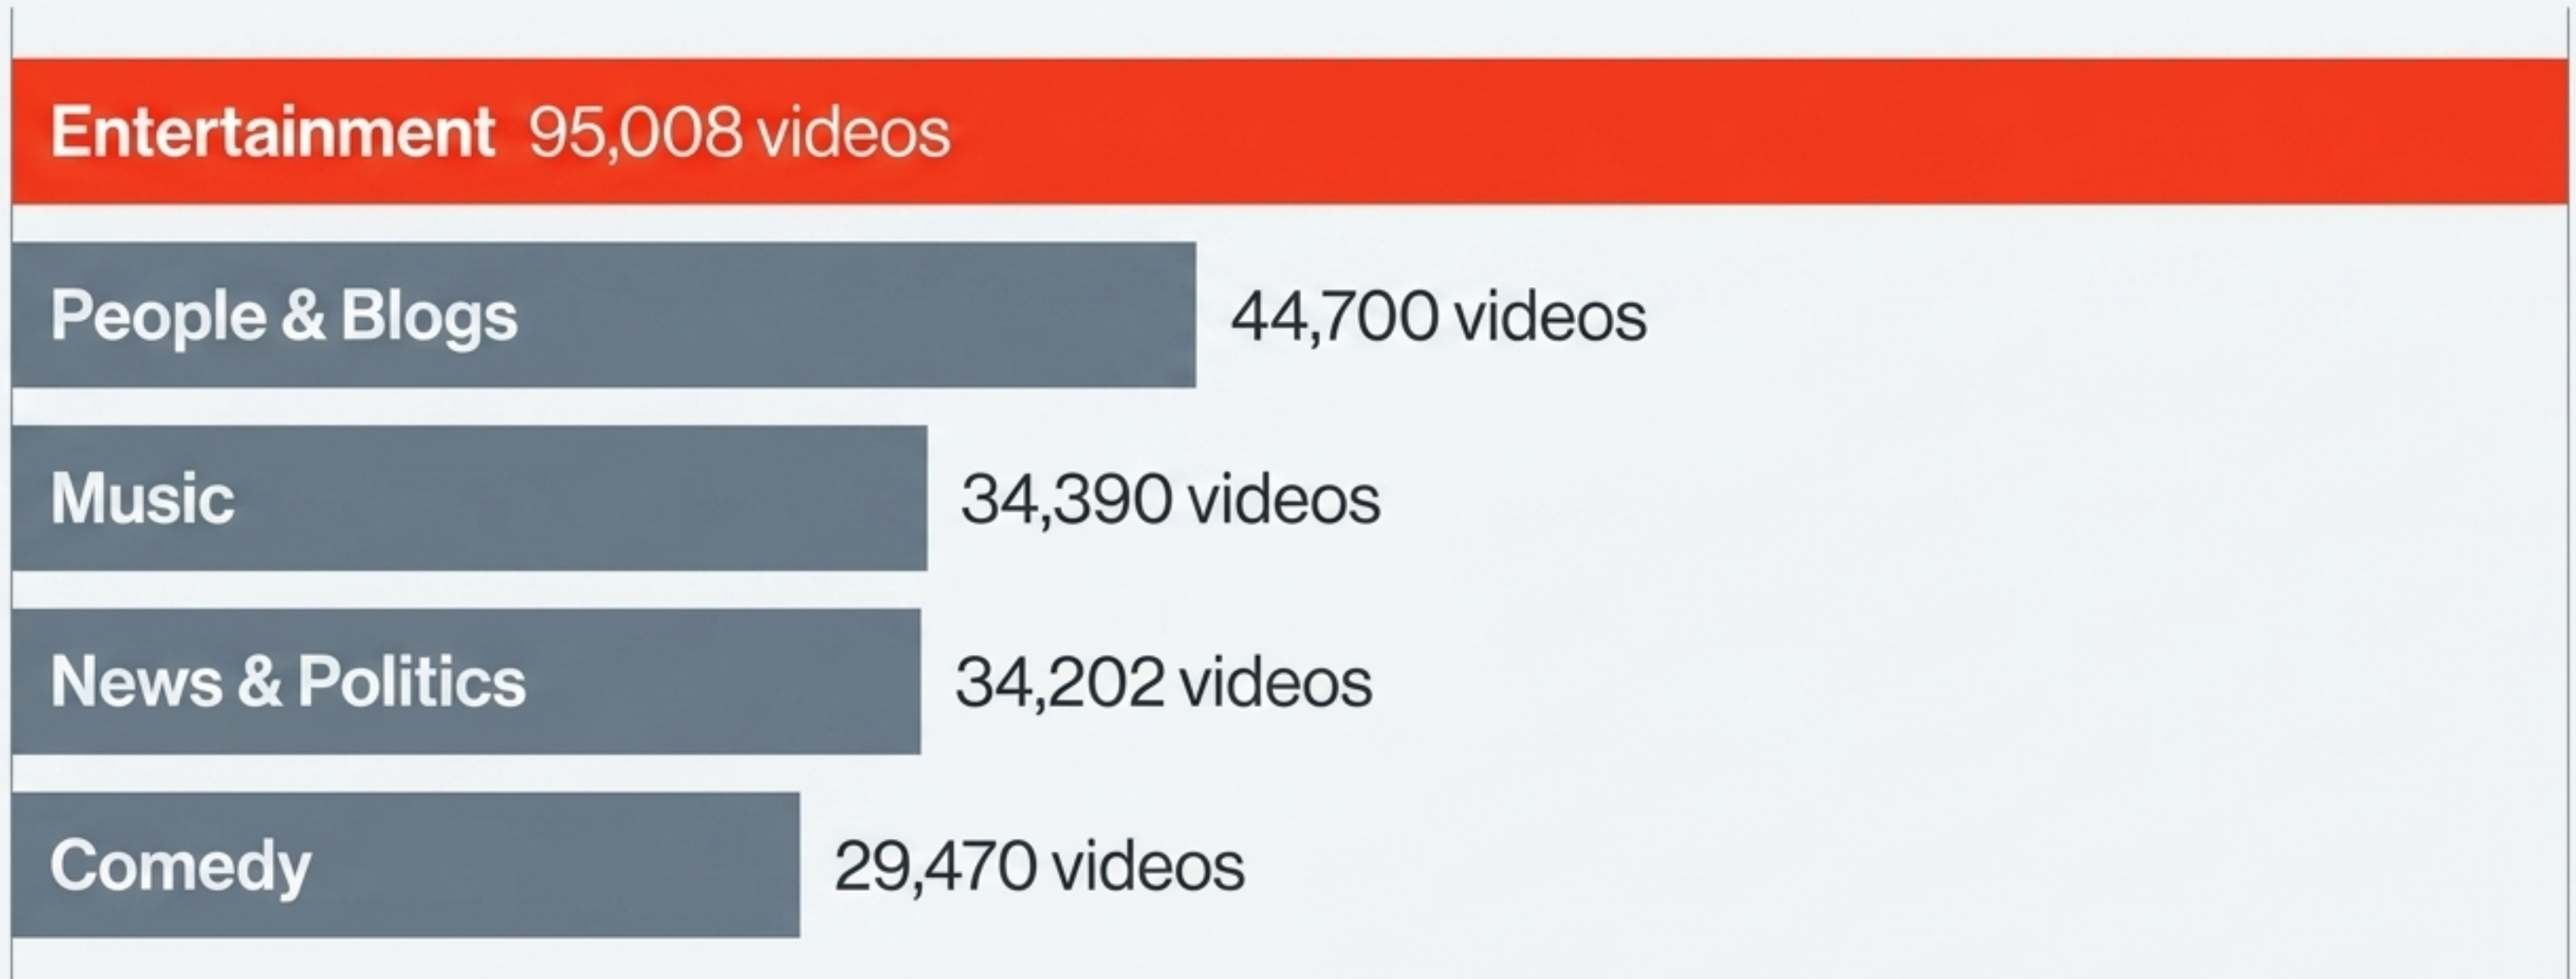

Target Markets

The United States, France, Russia, and India represent the dominant share (over 21% each) of the trending landscape.

Entertainment holds a massive lead over all other content verticals globally.

A near-even four-way split dominates the global trending landscape.

Beyond Entertainment, regional preferences dictate entirely distinct targeting strategies.

US Market (Lifestyle Focus)

Music:
12,874 videos

Howto & Style:
8,280 videos

Global Market (France, Russia, India, Japan - Reality/News Focus)

People & Blogs:
38,578 videos

News & Politics:
29,384 videos

Insight: The US audience leans heavily toward curated lifestyle and music content, whereas the global audience consumes significantly more news and raw personal vlogs.

Ad placement and budget allocation plan based on Q1 trending behaviors.

US Targeting

Focus US campaigns heavily on Music and Howto & Style channels.

Global Targeting

Focus global campaigns (FR, RU, IN, JP) on People & Blogs and News & Politics.

Mass Reach

Utilize Entertainment channels universally for mass-reach, upper-funnel global campaigns.

Budget Allocation

- 90% Core Markets: Split evenly among top four regions (US, France, Russia, India).
- 10% Secondary Market: Allocated exclusively to Japan.
